

Now that we have listened to the story of the Great Race, we are going to play a memory game! Cut the pictures of these animals out and see if you can put them in order from first to last!

Stick the animals onto a page in the order they won the race. Talk with your grown-up about how each animal felt about the race. How did the cat feel about missing the race? How did the rat feel about winning the race? And what about the pig who came last? What words would you use to describe the dragon?
